

Corporate Capability Statement:

SPGS America provides various products and services that address the holistic electrical protection of any facility. This includes; performance, reliability, radio frequency shielding and electromagnetic interference protection of susceptible digital equipment, electronic systems and machinery. SPGS America has clients in all categories of large and small business within: manufacturing, commercial, industrial, health care, transportation, voice and data centers, educational, CATV, cellular, regulated telecommunications companies and government facilities etc.

Our products along with our services for power quality, bonding, grounding, electrical analysis, evaluation, design and commissioning services are most economical at the planning stages of any new facility, structure or installation of electronic equipment. Retrofitting an existing location for optimized electrical, performance, reliability, protection and radio frequency shielding brings benefits but at a higher cost. Benefits of our services include improved personnel safety and reduced financial losses and down time (caused by electrical anomalies impinging on susceptible digital, electronic systems, and machinery).
